

University of Missouri
Econ 8001 – Financial Economics
Spring 2023

Economics 8001 is an online asynchronous class being offered for the first-time during Spring Semester 2023. In addition to weekly assignments, the class has two online exams scheduled for the dates/times listed below and a final paper.

Instructor: Robert Hazel, rahvzr@missouri.edu; Cell: 571-723-3515

When you email me, please identify the course you are writing about.

Office hours: Please don't hesitate to request a Zoom meeting.

Course description: What determines the values of stocks and bonds? Is it true that “a blindfolded monkey throwing darts could select a portfolio that would do just as well as one carefully selected by experts?” How do firms decide whether to raise funds by issuing stocks or bonds? What is relationship between risk and return for financial assets?

Financial economics is economics applied to tradeable financial assets, such as stocks and bonds. The main topics we will cover are the valuation of stocks, bonds and other financial assets; portfolio theory; the capital asset pricing model; the efficient market hypothesis; capital structure theories; options and other derivatives; principal/agent issues, and behavioral finance. We will use simple math and current examples to understand and apply the theories.

Course objectives and learning outcomes: Gain familiarity with the concepts of financial economics and understand how they apply in the real world.

Required Text: Fundamentals of Corporate Finance, 5th ed (2021), Berk, DeMarzo, Harford, available via AutoAccess as an e-book for about $35.

Recommended Text: A Random Walk Down Wall Street: The Time-Tested Strategy for Successful Investing, 12th ed (2020), Malkiel. Explains many of the course concepts in plain English. Available in paperback for about $15 or as an e-book for less. Don't substitute one of the earlier editions, as the book has changed substantially over time.

Canvas: Course materials including handouts, supplemental readings, homework, and any important course announcements will be posted on the Canvas site.

Grading:

1st exam 25%: Online exam scheduled for Tues, March 7, 7:00PM - 8:15PM CT

2nd exam 25%: Online exam scheduled for Thurs, May 4, 7:00PM - 8:15PM CT

Canvas assignments 36%: There will be 12 online Canvas assignments.

Paper due at the end of the semester 14%

Final course grades will be assigned as follows:

A+ = 98-100+    B- = 80-82
A = 93-97        C+ = 77-79
A- = 90-92       C = 73-76
B+ = 87-89       C- = 70-72
B = 83-86        F = below 70

The graduate school grading scheme does not include D grades.

In determining your raw score for the course, do not rely on the Grade Total column in Canvas because it does not weight assignments correctly. Take the raw scores from Canvas and then weight them based on the syllabus weightings.

Exams will be held during the scheduled times listed above. We will be using the University’s online proctoring software, which is currently SmarterProctoring. There are no make-up exams. An unexcused absence from an exam will receive a score of 0 on that exam.

Canvas assignments:

- Will be posted most weeks, typically on Thursday and due the following Wednesday at 11:59 pm. They are to be answered on Canvas.
- Are open-book/open-note.
- Will receive a score of 0 if submitted late.

You are welcome to work with other students and/or ask me for help, but you must write your own essays.

Paper: A 2,000-word paper (about 8 double-spaced pages) is required on a topic in financial economics. Your paper should provide some insight that goes beyond summarizing material that we have covered in class. Grading will be based on the quality of the analysis, insight, and writing quality You must submit your proposed topic to me by email – I will respond quickly. If you have trouble finding a paper topic, let me know and we can set up a Zoom meeting to find a topic that interests you.

Papers should be double spaced in 12-point font with one-inch margins. Citations and references can be in any standard social science format.

Late paper submissions will lose 2 points (out of 14) for each of the first three days late, and after that will receive a score of 0.

ADMINISTRATIVE MATTERS

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is fundamental to the activities and principles of a university. All members of the academic community must be confident that each person's work has been responsibly and honorably acquired, developed, and presented. Any effort to gain an advantage not given to all students is dishonest whether or not the effort is successful. The academic community regards breaches of the academic integrity rules as extremely serious matters.

Standard of Conduct for Academic Integrity

In addition, students are expected to adhere to this honor pledge on all graded work whether or not they are explicitly asked in advance to do so: "I strive to uphold the University values of respect, responsibility, discovery, and excellence. On my honor, I pledge that I have neither given nor received unauthorized assistance on this work."

Students with Disabilities

If you anticipate barriers related to the format or requirements of this course, if you have emergency medical information to share with me, or if you need to make arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please let me know as soon as possible.

If disability related accommodations are necessary (for example, a note taker, extended time on exams, captioning), please establish an accommodation plan with the MU Disability Center, S5 Memorial Union, 573- 882-4696, and then notify me of your eligibility for reasonable accommodations. For other MU resources for persons with disabilities, click on "Disability Resources" on the MU homepage.

Acceptable Use

The University of Missouri's Acceptable Use Policy (AUP) for information technology applies to Mizzou websites. The AUP addresses federal and state laws, university regulations, intellectual-property rights, software-licensing requirements and prohibitions against plagiarism and obscenity. This policy applies to all users including faculty, staff, students, and guest users of University of Missouri computer networks, equipment, or connecting resources. ### Copyright

This section helps you understand copyright in course materials, student work and pages published on Mizzou websites. UM System Copyright Information

Executive Order No. 38

When you record something that happens in a course (a lecture, class discussions, meetings, etc.) it has an impact on the rights of the people captured in that recording. For example, your instructor and the University may have rights to the intellectual property contained in that recording. At the same time, another student who may have been recorded has the right to privacy. In order to protect these rights, MU employs a policy (called "Executive Order No. 38") to govern both situations you may encounter while taking a course--when your instructor allows recordings and when he or she does not allow them.

FERPA

The University of Missouri maintains educational records of students in accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA). Related topics include privacy policies at MU, display of student directory information, and details about how MU manages FERPA-protected information.

Intellectual Pluralism

The University community welcomes intellectual diversity and respects student rights. Students who have questions or concerns regarding the atmosphere in this class (including respect for diverse opinions) may contact the departmental chair or divisional director, the director of the Office of Students Rights and Responsibilities, or the MU Equity Office.

Statement of Nondiscrimination

The University of Missouri does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, genetics information, disability, or status as a protected veteran.

MU Statement of Nondiscrimination

If you experience discrimination or sexual violence, you are encouraged (but not required) to report the incident to the MU Office of Institutional Equity. Learn more about your rights and options at the Office of Institutional Equity or by calling 573-882-3880. You also may make an anonymous report online.

If you are a survivor, or someone concerned about a survivor, and need immediate information on what to do, see RSVP resources page. Both the Office of Institutional Equity and the RSVP Center can provide assistance to students who need help with academics, housing, or other issues.

In the event that you choose to write or speak about having experienced any of these forms of prohibited discrimination or harassment, Mizzou policies require that, as your instructor, I share this information with the MU Office of Institutional Equity. They will contact you to offer information about resources, as well as your rights and options as a member of our campus community.

Mental Health

Last date of attendance and impact on financial aid

Federal regulations for financial aid require the student financial aid office to document the attendance of students who have received federal financial aid if they do not successfully complete any courses during the term. As a result, the last day of attendance (or activity) for any student receiving an F, U, or FN in this course will be recorded in the grade roster and reported to the financial aid office. Based on the last day of attendance, students may be required to repay a portion of their financial aid award for the semester.

A student's last day of attendance (or activity) is the last day on which a student participates in an academically-related activity at the University. These include:

- Attendance in class, lab, or an instructor's office hours
- The completion of an assignment or examination
- An appointment with a professor or e-mail correspondence regarding course material

- (Online courses only) For online courses, the last day a student submits an assignment or exam. Only logging into an online class without participating is not acceptable for last day of attendance

Please note that discussing a course withdrawal or notifying the instructor of an absence in class does not constitute participation for financial aid purposes. Moreover, any office hour visits or email correspondence must be related to the course material.

Netiquette

Your instructor and fellow students wish to foster a safe online learning environment. All opinions and experiences, no matter how different or controversial they may be perceived, must be respected in the tolerant spirit of academic discourse. You are encouraged to comment, question, or critique an idea but you are not to attack an individual. Our differences, some of which are outlined in the University's nondiscrimination statement, will add richness to this learning experience. Please consider that sarcasm and humor can be misconstrued in online interactions and generate unintended disruptions. Working as a community of learners, we can build a polite and respectful course ambiance.

Religious Holidays & Accommodations

Many religious faiths are represented in the student body. The University of Missouri does not restrict student free exercise of religion, unless 1) the restriction is in the form of a rule of general applicability, and does not discriminate against religion or among religions; and 2) it can be demonstrated that the application of the restriction is essential to furthering a compelling university interest, and is not unduly restrictive considering the relevant circumstance. The policy of the University attempts to strike a reasonable balance between accommodating the religious practice of students and meeting academic needs and standard.

Consult IDE's Guide to Religions for the form that can be used to notify an instructor of an absence associated with religious practice. Students are expected to notify their instructor(s) by completing and submitting this form in a manner that is consistent with the procedure outlined in the university's policy on student religious accommodation. Providing false information regarding sincerely held religious practice is a violation of the university's Standard of Conduct and will not be tolerated.
